

STATE CAMPAIGN MEETING.

er, but appealed to the laborer to recognize that capital has rights; he approves just and reasonable returns for capital, but urged the capitalists to recognize the rights of labor. Each is dependent upon the other. The employer cannot do without the workman, nor can the workman do without the employer. Each must recognize the rights of the other and work together in harmony.

Judge Jones was well received and closed with a good applause, and as he took his seat was handed three bouquets which had been handed on the stage. The largest came from a young lady graduate of Winthrop and bore the words "Hon. Ira B. Jones, Our Next Governor."

The speech of Judge Jones was well received on all sides and he was given a perfect hearing.

Governor Cole L. Blease followed Mr. Jones. Mr. Duncan, who was scheduled for second place among the gubernatorial candidates, not having arrived.

The Governor began his talk with the words "Judge Jones," and proceeded with an attack upon him which lasted throughout his entire talk, save when he paused long enough to pay his compliments to the newspapers of the State, which he characterized as "the chiefs of all liars since the days of Ananias."

Incidentally he mentioned the pardon of Earle Rochester, stating that the petition for pardon was signed by the judge, the jury and a long list of names of citizens, and closing with a loud "If you don't want pardons, don't sign petitions. I am your servant and not your master, and will give you what you want."

Governor Blease characterized Judge Jones as the corporation candidate for Governor, and stated that he (Judge Jones) is conducting "the dirtiest, nastiest, filthiest campaign since the days of Dan Chamberlain."

He referred briefly to Mayor John P. Grace, of Charleston, as "Johnnie P. Disgrace," said that the mill merger was nothing but a trust under another name for the purpose of controlling the price of cotton. He said that Lewis W. Parker was financing Judge Jones' campaign for him, and charged that Judge Jones' son Charles had paid a man $50 to work for his father, securing votes, until August 27th.

"You men of Oconee look out for fraud," he shouted. "I am told that the Jones men are placing their names on two club rolls. What for? For the purpose of fraud." And he admonished his supporters to get to the polls early before "all the ballots were torn up" and to stay there and see that there was a fair count.

He said that he had fought for economy and had refused to appoint special judges. Judge Jones, he said, had been accustomed to sitting in the Supreme Court and saying to some little lawyer, "Sit down," and he sat down; to another little lawyer, "Stand up," and he stood up. But no (Jones) could make him (Blease) stand up and down to suit him, and he made it so hot for Judge Jones that he thought he had pepper in his chair and jumped up and ran for Governor.

He said that Judge Jones denied ever being a corporation lawyer. "And I guess he's about right," said Mr. Blease, "for the corporations want good lawyers to represent them." He said, however, that the corporations did use Charles Jones as a megaphone through which to reach the daddy's "year."

Governor Blease called for his usual hand primary, which was largely responded to, there being a good number of supporters of the Governor in the crowd. It was noted, however, that many were holding up both hands, and that among those voting with their hands were not a few boys from 10 to 16 years of age.

Wherever Mr. Blease mentioned Judge Jones in his tirade there was applause from the Blease men in the gathering, and what had before been a quiet and orderly meeting was changed to a boisterous one, though the noise was in cheering the Governor and not in the nature of a "howling down."

The Categorical Reply.
According to the rules adopted by the members of the campaign party, whenever one candidate makes a personal attack upon another, the one attacked has the right to a categorical reply, and when Judge Jones arose in accordance with this custom some of the Blease men in front of the stand cried "We don't want to hear it!" "We've heard enough from you!" "Shut up!" "Sit down!" "Hurrah for Cole!" etc. It was quite a while before Judge Jones was able to make himself heard above the tumult of voices, and was not permitted again to speak in quiet.

Governor Blease charged that Judge Jones had made a speech at Westminster attacking him (Blease), but that he was afraid to do it here to his face. This Judge Jones denied emphatically, but in a gentlemanly and calm manner, and there was one voice in the crowd which stated that Judge Jones had referred to Blease at Westminster, while there were several who shouted that he had not. Judge Jones' reply to the charges as to Chas. Jones and the reported $50 payment to Vincent for services in securing votes was contained in the following two telegrams, which were read by the Judge:

"Columbia, S. C., Aug. 17, 1912.—Hon. Ira B. Jones, care Campaign Party, Anderson, S. C.—The charge that I employed or paid Archie Vincent $50 or any sum whatever to canvass for you until the primary, is maliciously false. I saw Vincent at Camden wearing a Blease button. "Chas. D. Jones."

"Heath Springs, S. C., Aug. 17, 1912.—Hon. Ira B. Jones, Anderson, S. C.—I have just read in to-day's News and Courier that Governor Blease read a letter at Abbeville yesterday from E. A. Newman, of Camden, stating that Chas. D. Jones gave Archie Vincent, of Heath Springs, fifty dollars to work for votes for his father till August 27th. Neither Chas. D. Jones nor any one else has ever given me fifty dollars or any other amount to work for votes for Ira B. Jones. I have never been a Jones man at all, but have been for Governor Blease up to the present time, and if I should change in the future it will not be through the influence of money, for I cannot be bought over. Furthermore Newman simply lied when he wrote that letter, and I demand a copy of said letter. S. A. Vincent.

"Sworn and subscribed to before me this 17th day of August, 1912. "E. C. Croxton, "Notary Public, S. C."

In his talk Governor Blease asserted that Judge Jones at Westminster had stated that A. Zimmerman, once a Representative from Oconee, had voted with him (Jones) on the separate coach question, and this Governor Blease denied, reading record of votes cast in the House in 1891. Judge Jones, in his reply, stated that he did not say that Mr. Zimmerman had voted always as he had voted, but that he (Zimmerman) did vote with him in 1890, and Judge Jones stated that he had the record, and it can be found in the House Journal of the session of 1890. "Governor Blease charges me with favoring social equality because of my vote on the separate coach bill. A. Zimmerman, your Oconee Representative, voted with me in 1890 on the same measure. Do you charge Zimmerman with favoring social equality?" he asked.

These were all false statements, Judge Jones asserted, which the Governor had made against him. "Three campaign lies nailed," he called as he closed.

John T. Duncan, who did not arrive in Walhalla until after the meeting had been adjourned, was introduced to those left in the grove, Judge Jones, who was just leaving the ground, returning to the stand and introducing him. Mr. Duncan spoke at some length, going over the grounds covered by him two years ago, with some additions, but he labored under disadvantages, the crowd being scattered and restless, and the speaker made little headway. Finally a brisk shower came up, the crowd took to shelter, and Mr. Duncan concluded his speech "on the run," so to speak, he heading also for shelter from the shower.

The Estimates of the crowd ranged from 2,000 to 3,000, but we think that the former is the more conservative and nearer correct. In the hand primary about five hundred voted as signifying their allegiance to Mr. Blease, though it was noted that numbers "stuffed the ballot box" with two hands, and that young boys also held up their hands. One youngster, not more than 8 or 9 years, created some amusement as he piped out in his little shrill voice from the branches of a tree near the stand, "I'm a Blease!" "I'm a Blease!"

Altogether the meeting was a most satisfactory one, and, aside from the single instance of interruption to Judge Jones, he closed his remarks, the meeting will be put down as one perfect in order, and doubtless the best in the State. The State capitalists left Walhalla for Pickens, where the campaign meeting is being held to-day, and from there they will go to Greenville, with which gathering the campaign will close.

The Oakway Picnic.

On August 24th there will be a picnic in connection with the county campaign meeting at Oakway school house. Every one is invited to come and bring well-filled baskets, as this will be a spread picnic and not a public table.

We especially invite Earle's Mill, Cross Roads, Fair Play and South Union communities to join us in this gathering. This will be the last county campaign meeting. Come and bring your family and large baskets of rations, and let's have the best picnic of the year.

There will be two ball games, one at 9.30 a. m. and one at 4.30 p. m. The Ladies' Aid Society will sell refreshments for the benefit of the Baptist church.

At a meeting of the citizens of Oakway the following committees were elected:

Picnic Committee—J. W. Bearden, H. J. Myers, W. H. Cole. Committee to look after the candidates—Winford Bearden, Chester King, Paul Martin, G. D. Meeler, Kenneth Dickson.

Each of these committees will take pleasure in introducing the candidates. But please don't come if you can't come sober.

J. W. Bearden, H. J. Myers, W. H. Cole, Committee.

W. S. Gunsalus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.

Greenville for Good Order.

Greenville, Aug. 18.—The city council of Greenville in special session this afternoon appropriated the sum of $5,000 to preserve good order at the State campaign meeting here next Thursday. The mayor was authorized and instructed to confer with the police commission and swear in as many extra officers as they deem necessary to preserve good order and protect the good name of the city.

Police Chief Holcombe publishes in Tuesday's papers an advertisement calling for 100 men to apply to him for appointments as special policemen the day the State candidates speak here.

Blew Up Safe, Fired Building.

Columbia, Aug. 17.—Police investigating to-day found that yeggmans had blown the safe of the Kirkland Distributing Company, whose building was burned late last night. It is supposed that the building was fired after blowing the safe. The loss amounts to several thousand dollars.

GOOD ROADS.

Richland, S. C., Aug. 12, 1912.

To the Voters of Oconee County:

With prosperity abounding on every side throughout the bounds of Oconee county, with every neighborhood clamoring to a higher STANDARD, there seems to be a general awakening up to reality the true need of a higher STANDARD of public highways for our county. While the State of Georgia is moving right ahead in the lead, building good roads throughout the entire State and doing it cheaper than any other State in the Union, and doing the work with her own convicts, with more than 5,000 miles standard road bed, and the State of North Carolina on the other side of us, which is the banner good roads State of the South, with 4,000 miles of STANDARD roadbed already built, and going ahead leading all other States along the right way, and demonstrating to the whole country what great wealth follows up these good roads, with all of our nearby counties gone on far ahead of us building up GOOD ROADS, YET SOMEHOW WE SEEM LOATH TO EVEN FOLLOW. This is no experiment. Where good roads are maintained the dividend is declared already. It is the prosperity that good roads bring that we are all after.

We find every man, to a man, throughout the entire county favoring a higher STANDARD for our public highways, and when we find all our people united in one great cause, and find that the greatest issue before the people from national on down to local, throughout the whole country, is GOOD ROADS, and as we realize our great resources and possibilities that demonstrates to us the wealth that GOOD ROADS would bring to us in a thousand different ways, we are drawn up right square face about with the real situation, until we can no longer lament over a few old mistakes, old debts, high taxes and hard times.

We have the best county in the State and the best people in the world, and the prosperity of our own county demands that we wake up to the real situation, get busy and be up and doing. We can do what other counties can do. We have the wealth, which means we have the money, and we are going to have a system of STANDARD roads throughout Oconee county. There is certainly nothing impossible about it. We can have them and will have them. Of course they cannot be built in a day, but they can be built. They cannot be built without money, but we have the money. This great, progressive county of ours can no longer remain in this condition, with the whole surrounding country moving right ahead, building and maintaining GOOD ROADS. It seems as if in this place we must get entirely out of this old habit, custom, or lost art of working our public highways, and set at it like we are going to do something, and leave it like it had been done.

Good roads must go; good roads must be introduced.

We need a little GOOD ROADS legislation.

We need a closer relationship between the different boards of trade and the Board of County Commissioners.

We need to establish a standard width for our different roads, to be governed by class of road.

We need all the GOOD ROADS movements we can get up.

In fact, we need a general GOOD ROADS movement throughout the entire county.

If I should be elected I propose to do the very best towards the up-building of the public highways of Oconee county to a higher STANDARD. I believe in maintaining a model county chain gang and WORKING THEM.

I believe in wisely spending and carefully superintending. I have had several years' experience in different departments of railroad construction work, and feel that I am qualified to supervise Oconee county, and will certainly appreciate your support, and if elected will render you good service.

Yours very truly,

W. C. POSTER, Candidate for County Supervisor.

SAY PEACHES ARE POISONED.

Arsenate of Lead Found to Be in Canned Peaches.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17.—Arsenate of lead, a deadly poison, has been discovered in canned peaches from Fort Valley, Ga., peach orchard district, and as a result of the discovery P. A. Methvin, the State's pure food inspector, will probably condemn the output of a number of the largest canneries in the State.

The poison got into the peeling of the peaches from a spray used on the trees to kill worms and brown rot. As a general thing the peach growers use the spray early, so that it will not accumulate on the fruit, but this time the unprecedented heavy rainfall made it necessary to spray a second time.

A dissection of the peaches led to the discovery of the arsenate. Peaches canned for "pie fillers" are not peeled, and it was principally in this class of canned goods that the poison was noted.

Suit for Tallulah Falls.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17.—Governor Brown to-day signed the legislative resolution authorizing suit for the recovery of the Tallulah Falls property. This means that the disputed titles of the land in the gorge of the Tallulah river under grants made in 1818-1820 will be passed to the courts for final jurisdiction.

Attorney General Felder, who will prosecute the State's suit in connection with the attorneys of the Tallulah Falls Conservation Association, will hold a conference with the Chief Executive at once and suit in Superior Court will be instituted within the next few days.

Advertised Mail.

Zachary Annual Reunion.

Seneca, Aug. 17.—Editor Keowee Courier: The annual reunion of the Zachary family will be held at Cashier's, N. C., embracing Friday and Saturday, 30th and 31st of August. It is earnestly desired to have a full attendance of all the connection and friends; also that each family that has not sent in a copy of their family record do so at once. Send to Mrs. Ralph H. Zachary, Brevard, N. C., so that the register will be complete at the reunion.

Respectfully,

John R. Zachary.

Are Ever at War.

There are two things everlastingly at war, joy and pills. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve will banish pills in any form. It soon subdues the itching, irritation, inflammation or swelling. It gives comfort, invites joy. Great healer of burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises, eczema, scalds, pimples, skin eruptions. Only 25c. at all druggists.

Lightning on Clothes Line.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 17.—While hanging clothes to dry, Mrs. Cora Hurd Gray, wife of Harry Gray, a prominent farmer, was struck by lightning from an apparently clear sky and was instantly killed. Her husband and two children saw her rush toward the clothesline. The instant she touched it a stream of fire enveloped her body. Gray rushed to aid her, but was knocked down and rendered unconscious.

A WINTHROP ENTERTAINMENT.

Mrs. S. E. Herndon Entertains in Honor of Her Guest.

Miss Dorothy Platt was the guest of honor on Friday afternoon, August 16th, when Mrs. E. L. Herndon entertainingly entertained at her beautiful suburban home, "The Walnuts." It was a Winthrop party, and the Winthrop colors (garnet and gold) were carried out minutely in the fruit punch and refreshments as well as in the tastefully decorated reception hall and parlor.

The guests were graciously received by the hostess, introduced to the guests of honor and refreshed with delicious fruit punch by a sister of the honoree, Miss Mabel Platt. After all had arrived the guests were given unique score cards, on which were miniature Winthrop pennants.

For more than an hour several interesting and exciting games of "42" were played. Miss Elizabeth Stribling having scored highest, was given a handsome raffia work bag of garnet and gold. The second prize, a dainty Mexican drawn-work handkerchief, was won by Miss Eloise Strother. The honoree was presented with a sterling silver mounted roller blotter.

A tempting salad course, with iced tea and divinity candy, was served by Misses Gertrude Smith, Mabel Platt and Clara Beth Ballenger.

The lateness of the hour reminded the guests that it was time to leave, and they reluctantly took their departure, assuring the hostess of a most delightful afternoon.

Those enjoying this occasion were Misses Dorothy Platt, of Aiken, Edith Campbell, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Winona Cary, Gertrude Bleman, Janie Harrison, Norma Moore, Helen Beard, Eloise and Irene Strother, Dora Pitchford, Pauline Hughes, Gertrude Smith, Katie and Hannah Miller Harrison, Helen and May Pant, Lola Kaufmann and Elizabeth Stribling.

"Were all medicines as meritorious as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the world would be much better off and the percentage of suffering greatly decreased," writes Lindsay Scott, of Temple, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

Club Rolls Close To-Night!

Under the law the Democratic club rolls must be closed five days before the primary. Consequently, only to-day remains in which citizens can enroll, as the rolls of all clubs must be closed to-night (Wednesday).

Since the last State Democratic primary in 1910 several hundred young men of Oconee have attained their majority and will be qualified to vote in the next primary—August 27th—upon the condition that they put their names on the Democratic club roll of the voting precinct in which they live.

Flying Men Fall

victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles just like other people, with like results in loss of appetite, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that as T. D. Peebles, Henry, Tenn., proved. "Six bottles of Electric Bitters," he writes, "did more to give me new strength and good appetite than all other stomach remedies. It's folly to suffer when this great remedy will help you from the first dose. Try it. Only 50c. at all druggists."

Edwards Pleads Guilty.

Wytheville, Va., Aug. 17.—On the advice of his mother, Sidna Edwards, one of the Hillsville court house assassins, pleaded guilty to-day to second degree murder and was sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary. Two of his kinsmen have been found guilty of murder in the first degree.
